

NexaMotion Group Appoints Scott Weinstein as New President

CLEVELAND, OH – July 29, 2025 – NexaMotion Group (NMG), a leading provider of automotive aftermarket solutions and technology, today announced the appointment of Scott Weinstein as President, effective immediately. In this newly created role, Weinstein will be responsible for leading operations, sales and supply chain, supporting NMG's continued focus on execution, integration and long-term growth. He will report directly to CEO Neil Sethi.

"We're excited to welcome Scott to the team," said Sethi. "His operational expertise, customer focus and leadership track record will help us accelerate execution and unlock the next phase of growth."

Weinstein brings over 25 years of experience leading large-scale, multi-site sales and operations in the automotive aftermarket. He has driven sustained growth, led multiple acquisitions and implemented operational improvements focused on safety, cost and efficiency. Known for building high-performing teams and fostering accountability-driven, customer-focused cultures, Weinstein also brings valuable perspective from his early experience in his family's repair business.

"I'm honored to join NexaMotion Group at such a pivotal time," said Weinstein. "This is an exciting opportunity to build on the company's strong foundation, drive operational excellence and help deliver even greater value to our customers and partners."

"Scott's appointment is an important step forward in our growth journey," added Sethi. "As we continue to scale our capabilities and expand our impact, his leadership will help us deliver even more value across the industry."
